

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of automatic carrier transfer. First, a data verification procedure is executed after a first process operation according to a MES database, and a verification result is obtained thereafter. Next, a carrier transfer sub-route is produced and executed according to the verification result. Finally, a second process operation is executed for subsequent manufacturing process.